OBJECTIVE
The goal of this presentation is for each group to collaboratively select and research a Human Sexuality subtopic of interest to all/most team members from the five (5) general topics listed below. Sign up for topics will be on a first come, first serve basis; therefore, it is in your group’s best interest to meet and submit a subtopic as soon as possible. Groups will conduct an eight (8) minute presentation covering various perspectives of their topic and address student and instructor questions following the presentation.

GENERAL TOPICS
- Childhood & Adolescent Sexuality (Psychosocial Development, Behaviors, Sex Ed., etc.)
- Communication & Sexuality (Differences & Similarities, Nonverbal, Obstacles, etc.)
- Sexual Expression (Sexual Response, Kink, Asexuality, Online sex chats, etc.)
- Challenges to Sexual Functioning (Psychological, Physiological, Illness/Disability, etc.)
- Varieties of Sexual Expression (Fetishes, Sadomasochism, Sexual Addiction, etc.)

GUIDELINES
- Sources may include current textbooks, peer reviewed articles, and credible sources (i.e. news media, professional organizations [CDC, The Kinsey Institute, etc.]).
- Provide historical context for the chosen topic.
- Discuss research findings and cite your sources.
- Discuss your group’s conclusion based on the information gathered.
- All group members must be equally involved in the research, preparation, and presentation of this assignment. Students will receive a survey following the Human Sexuality Group presentations to describe the level of involvement of each member.
- Feel free to utilize your creativity for this presentation. The presentation format may be in PowerPoint, but may also be a skit, collage, painting, drawing, poem, or other creative medium so long as the aforementioned guidelines are followed.
